

Exercise 5

Change the following sentences into interrogative sentences:

1. I gave the present to my uncle. Did I give the present to my uncle?
2. Anu is the eldest of the sisters. Is Anu the eldest of the sisters?
3. She came here with her husband. Did she come here with her husband?
4. My uncle sold his car to an old friend of his. Did my uncle sell his car to an old friend of his?
5. They were laughing at her ugly face. Were they laughing at her ugly face?
6. I was looking at the flowers. Was I looking at the flowers?
7. They are staying with some friends. Are they staying with some friends?
8. The man I was talking to is a friend of my uncle. Is the man I was talking to a friend of my uncle?
9. This dictionary is for the learners of English language. Is this dictionary for the learners of English language?
10. Mr. Gopal is an engineer. Is Mr. Gopal an engineer?

Exercise 6

Answer the following questions tags:

Examples:

Question You were absent yesterday, weren't you?

Answer Yes, I was.

Question He didn't pass the examination, did he?

Answer No, he didn't.

1. She should help her poor sister, shouldn't she?

2. You hadn't much time, had you?

Yes, she should

No, I hadn't

3. Your sister was there, wasn't she?
4. He smokes too many cigarettes, doesn't he?
5. Miss Poonam is very busy, isn't she?
6. Mr. Anuj went to London, didn't he?
7. It is very cold today, isn't it?
8. We have plenty of time, haven't we?
9. Monu will win the first prize, won't she?
10. There was not a single seat vacant, was there?

Yes, she was.

Yes, he does.

Yes, she is.

Yes, he did.

Yes, it is.

Yes, we have.

Yes, she will.

No, there wasn't.